

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF OHIO
(WESTERN DIVISION)

IN RE MERCY HEALTH ERISA LITIGATION

Civil Action No.: 1:16-cv-00441-SJD

MEMORANDUM OF LAW IN SUPPORT OF PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR FINAL APPROVAL OF SETTLEMENT, CERTIFICATION OF SETTLEMENT CLASS AND APPROVAL OF CLASS NOTICE

S.D. OHIO RULE 7.2(a)(3) TABLE OF CONTENTS AND SUMMARY

I. INTRODUCTION..... 2

Plaintiffs seek an Order (1) granting approval of a settlement, (2) certifying a settlement class, and (3) approving the notice received by the settlement class.

II. FACTUAL AND PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND 3

A. Investigation of Claims, Filing of Initial Complaints & Consolidation 3

After significant investigation by three separate teams of attorneys, Plaintiffs filed three related cases between March and June of 2016 alleging that Mercy Health's pension plans were not operated in accordance with ERISA and did not qualify for ERISA's "church plan" exemption. After briefing, the Court consolidated the cases and appointed interim lead and liaison class counsel pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 23(g)(3).

B. The Master Consolidated Complaint & Motions to Dismiss 5

After additional investigation, counsel for Plaintiffs drafted a Master Consolidated Complaint ("MCC") which melded the allegations from the earlier complaints, with additional changes in light of the Supreme Court's ruling in Advocate Health Care Network v. Stapleton, 137 S. Ct. 1652 (June 5, 2017). Defendants filed motions to dismiss under Rules 12(b)(1) and 12(b)(6), and Plaintiffs filed opposition briefs. While Plaintiffs were preparing their response, the Tenth Circuit issued a ruling in Medina v. Catholic Health Initiatives, 877 F.3d 1213 (10th Cir. 2017), which was substantially adverse to Plaintiffs' position in this litigation.

C. Mediation, Settlement and Preliminary Approval 7

After briefing the motions to dismiss, the Parties discussed the possibility of reaching a negotiated settlement. They reached a tentative agreement on the primary terms of a settlement following an in-person mediation session on February 27, 2018 based on a proposal by the mediator. The details of the Settlement were worked out through direct negotiations over the course of several months. After the Settlement was finalized and executed, Plaintiffs filed a Motion for Preliminary Approval, which was granted by the Court on August 8, 2018.

D. Notice to the Class 9

In accordance with the Preliminary Approval Order, Defendants had the Class Notice sent to over 40,000 Class Members by First Class Mail and Class Counsel Izard, Kindall & Raabe posted the Notice and other case materials on a dedicated page of their website. Class counsel have spoken with over 100 Class Members after Notice was mailed. Nine Class Members have filed objections, of which four address the merits of the Settlement.

E. Terms of the Proposed Settlement..... 10

In general terms, the proposed settlement provides that, for a period of nine years, Mercy Health will guarantee payment of full benefits from the Plans and will provide Plan Participants with certain additional information concerning their plans and benefits. Additionally, approximately 1,390 former participants of several plans that took lump sum payments in lieu of annuitized benefits from 2011 to the date of the mediation will receive an addition $450. Defendants will continue to operate the Plans as “church plans,” and Plaintiffs and Settlement Class Members will provide a release of claims.

III. THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT IS FAIR, REASONABLE AND ADEQUATE AND SHOULD BE APPROVED BY THE COURT 14

A. The Law Favors and Encourages Settlements 14

Courts favor settlement of class actions. Franks v. Kroger Co., 649 F.2d 1216, 1224 (6th Cir. 1981). Courts in this circuit consider several factors in determining whether a proposed settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate. UAW v. Gen. Motors Corp., 497 F.3d 615, 630 (6th Cir. 2007).

B. The Proposed Settlement Should be Approved..... 14

1. The Proposed Settlement Was the Product of Arms-Length Negotiations and Was Not Procured by Any Fraud or Collusion 15

The settlement follows vigorous litigation and arms-length negotiations between experienced counsel with the assistance of a highly-respected mediator. “Courts presume the absence of fraud or collusion in class action settlements unless there is evidence to the contrary.” Johnson v. W2007 Grace Acquisition I, Inc., No. 13-2777, 2015 WL 12001269, at *5 (W.D. Tenn. Dec. 4, 2015). The involvement of multiple plaintiffs’ firms, prominent defense counsel and an independent mediator “greatly decrease the risk of fraud or collusion.” Michel v. WM Healthcare Solutions, Inc., No. 1:10-cv-638, 2014 WL 497031, at * 9 (S.D. Ohio Feb. 7, 2014).

2. The Complexity, Expense and Likely Duration of the Litigation..... 16

Absent settlement, the Parties face protracted litigation in a novel and evolving area that has seen major new rulings, including from the U.S. Supreme Court, just in the period the case has been pending. “In evaluating a proposed class settlement, the court must weigh the risks, expense, and delay plaintiffs would face if they continued to prosecute the litigation through trial and appeal.” Johnson, 2015 WL 12001269, at *6.

3. The Litigation Efforts Including Discovery..... 17

Plaintiffs have done extensive investigations of the Plans and their operations, filed detailed complaints (culminating in the MCC), and have filed lengthy briefs addressing Defendants' motions to dismiss. Through the process of investigations that led to the detailed allegations of the complaints, through the briefing process, and through discovery directed at the Plans' current funding levels, counsel have ample information to judge the strengths and weaknesses of their respective cases and evaluate the merits of the settlement. Olden v. Gardner, 294 Fed. Appx. 210, 218 (6th Cir. 2008) (discovery must enable parties to evaluate frankly the merits of the case and determine an appropriate settlement value).

4. The Settlement Considered In Light of the Likelihood of Success on the Merits..... 18

The proposed settlement provides real benefits to the Settlement Class, and is fair, reasonable and adequate in light of the litigation risks in this case -- risks made more evident by the rulings in Advocate and Medina. Plaintiffs' likelihood of success on the merits “provides a gauge from which the benefits of the settlement must be measured.” Poplar Creek Dev. Co. v. Chesapeake Appalachia, L.L.C., 636 F.3d 235, 245 (6th Cir. 2011).

5. Class Counsel and the Class Representatives Support the Settlement 22

The Class Representatives and Class Counsel support the proposed settlement. “In deciding whether a proposed settlement warrants approval, the informed and reasoned judgment of plaintiffs’ counsel and their weighing of the relative risks and benefits of protracted litigation are entitled to great deference.” Johnson, 2015 WL 12001269, at *8.

6. Reaction of Absent Class Representatives..... 23

The reaction of absent class members to date has generally been positive, based on telephone calls received by Class Counsel and on the small number of objections filed to date, given that over 40,000 people received notice. The deadline for filing objections has not yet passed, and Class Counsel will provide an update in advance of the Fairness Hearing.

7. The Settlement is Consistent With Public Interest 28

The Settlement provides real benefits to the settlement class and is in the public interest. “[A]pproval of a settlement that provides substantial benefits to a class serves the public interest by eliminating substantial burdens on the court system that would result from continued litigation.” Gokare v. Fed. Express Corp., No. 11-cv-2131, 2013 WL 12094870, at *3 (W.D. Tenn. Nov. 22, 2013)

8. Additional Considerations 28

The settlement agreement provides that Defendants will not object to paying an award of attorneys' fees and expenses and Case Contribution Awards to plaintiffs, so long as the aggregate amount of all of these payments does not exceed $850,000. The provision was important to Defendants, who sought to quantify their maximum exposure in the settlement. It was based on a mediator's proposal, is not disproportionate to the value of the settlement and does not represent a windfall. There is no reason, accordingly, to view it as illegitimate. Whirlpool Corp. Front-loading Washer Prod. Liab. Litig., No. 1:08-WP-65000, 2016 WL 5338012, at *19 (N.D. Ohio Sept. 23, 2016). In addition, Class Counsel will seek Case Contribution awards of $2000 for each Plaintiff in recognition for their work on behalf of the settlement class -- an amount that is well within the sums this court has awarded in other cases. Michel, at *12. Importantly, any payments of fees, expenses or Named Plaintiff Case Contribution awards are subject to this Court's evaluation and approval, and the settlement is in no way contingent upon the Court's award of any amounts.

IV. CERTIFICATION OF THE SETTLEMENT CLASS IS APPROPRIATE..... 31

A. The Proposed Class Meets the Prerequisites for Class Certification Under Rule 23(a)..... 31

Plaintiffs seek certification of a Settlement Class under Rules 23(a) and 23(b)(1) and/or 23(b)(2). The Supreme Court has acknowledged the propriety of certifying a class solely for settlement purposes. Amchem Products, Inc. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 618 (1997).

1. Numerosity..... 31

There are more than 40,000 members of the proposed settlement class. “While the Sixth Circuit has not established a strict numerical test for the satisfaction of the numerosity requirement, it has held that “substantial” numbers usually satisfy the requirement. Michel, 2014 WL 497031, at *6 (quoting Daffin v. Ford Motor Co., 458 F.3d 549, 553 (6th Cir. 2006)).

2. Commonality 32

This case involves numerous questions that are common to the class, concerning whether the Plans qualify as ERISA-exempt “church plans”, and whether the Defendants have breached their duties under ERISA by improperly funding and administering the Plans. Commonality is satisfied if the resolution of at least one common issue will affect the class as a whole. Fallick v. Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co., 162 F.3d 410, 424 (6th Cir. 1998).

3. Typicality 33

Plaintiffs are all participants in one (or more) of the Plans at issue in the case, and all of the Plans have similar provisions with respect to the claims at issue in this case. Thus, Plaintiffs' claims satisfy typicality. “[A] plaintiffs claim is typical if it arises from the same event or practice or course of conduct that gives rise to the claims of other class members, and if his or her claims are based on the same legal theory.” Amos v. PPG Indus., Inc., No. 05-cv-70, 2015 WL 4881459, at *6-7 (S.D. Ohio Aug. 13, 2015).

4. Adequacy 35

Plaintiffs' interests are the same as those of all Class Members, and they have contributed to the successful prosecution of the litigation by providing documents and information to Plaintiffs' counsel for preparation of the complaints, their regular communications with counsel and their participation in the settlement process. Accordingly, they satisfy the adequacy requirement. Vassalle v. Midland Funding LLC, 708 F.3d 747, 757 (6th Cir. 2013).

5. Implicit Requirements 36

The proposed class is definite and can be identified through defendants' records and the Plaintiffs are members of the proposed class, meeting what the Meyers court described as implicit requirements for class certification. Meyers v. Dtna Trucks North America, LLC, No. 14-2361, 2014 WL 12531121, *5 (W.D. Tenn. Oct. 8, 2014).

B. The Proposed Class Meets the Prerequisites for Class Certification Under Rule 23(b)(1) and/or (b)(2) 36

Because this case involves operation of retirement plans with thousands of participants, the prosecution of separate actions by individual class members would create the risk of inconsistent adjudications, which would create incompatible standards of conduct for the defendant, and would as a practical matter be dispositive of the interests of absent members, satisfying the requirements of FED. R. CIV. P. 23(b)(1)(A) and (B). “[I]n light of the derivative nature of ERISA § 502(a)(2) claims, breach of fiduciary duty claims brought under § 502(a)(2) are paradigmatic examples of claims appropriate for certification as a Rule 23(b)(1) class, as numerous courts have held.” Griffin v. Flagstar Bancorp. Inc., No. 10-cv-10610, 2013 WL 6511860, at *6 (E.D. Mich. Dec. 12, 2013) (citing In re Schering Plough Corp. ERISA Litig., 589 F.3d 585, 604 (3d Cir. 2009)). Additionally, because the Class sought injunctive relief concerning policies and practices that applied generally to the class, certification under Rule 23(b)(2) is also appropriate. Meyers, 2014 WL 12531121, at *7 (citing FED. R. CIV. P. 23(b)(2)).

C. The Court Should Appoint IKR and KTMC as Class Counsel and Plaintiffs as Class Representative for the Settlement Class 38

Appointment of class counsel for the Settlement Class pursuant to Rule 23(g)(1) is based on the same factors the Court considered in appointing interim class counsel under Rule 23(g)(3): (i) the work counsel did in identifying or investigating potential claims in the action; (ii) counsel’s experience in handling class actions, other complex litigation, and claims of the type asserted in the action; (iii) counsel’s knowledge of the applicable law; and (iv) the resources that counsel will commit to representing the class. FED. R. CIV. P. 23(g)(1)(A)(i)-(iv). For the reasons set forth in earlier Rule 23(g)(3) briefing and rulings, and based on counsel’s subsequent work on behalf of the class, the Court should appoint IKR and KTMC as Co-Lead counsel for the Settlement Class, and Strauss Troy Company, LPA as Interim Liaison Class Counsel.

V. THE COURT SHOULD FIND THAT THE CLASS RECEIVED ADEQUATE NOTICE..... 39

The Class Notice approved in the Preliminary Approval Order was served by first-class mail to members of the Class and posted on a dedicated page of Class Counsel’s website. The notice properly “inform[ed] the class members of the nature of the pending action, the general terms of the settlement, that complete and detailed information is available from the court files, and that any class member may appear and be heard at the hearing.” Kinder v. Meredith Corp., No. 14-cr-11284, 2016 WL 454441, at *3 (E.D. Mich. Feb. 5, 2016) (quoting Newberg on Class Actions § 8:17 (5th ed.)). Accordingly, the Court should find that the Class received adequate notice

VI. CONCLUSION 40

Plaintiffs respectfully request that the Court grant their Motion for Final Approval of Settlement, Certification of the Settlement Class and Approval of Class Notice.

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES

CASES

Connectivity Sys. Inc. v. Nat’l City Bank, No. 08-cv-1119, 2011 WL 292008 (S.D. Ohio Jan. 26, 2011)..... 14

Gooch v. Life Investors Ins. Co. of Am., 672 F.3d 402 (6th Cir. 2012)..... 29, 39

Granada Inv. v. DWG Corp., 962 F.2d 1203 (6th Cir. 1992)..... 14

Hainey v. Parrott, 617 F. Supp. 2d 668 (S.D. Ohio 2007) 15

In re Am. Med. Sys. Inc., 75 F.3d 1069 (6th Cir. 1996)..... 32, 33

In re Broadwing, Inc. ERISA Litig., 252 F.R.D. 369 (S.D. Ohio 2006)..... 14, 24, 34, 38

In re Cardizem CD Antitrust Litig., 218 F.R.D. 508 (E.D. Mich. 2003)..... 31

In re CMS Energy ERISA Litig., 225 F.R.D. 539 (E.D. Mich. 2004)..... 34

In re Delphi Corp. Sec., Derivative & “ERISA” Litig., 248 F.R.D. 483 (E.D. Mich. 2008)..... 14

In re Nationwide Fin. Servs. Litig., No. 08-cv-249, 2009 WL 8747486 (S.D. Ohio Aug. 19, 2009)..... 14, 28

In re: Whirlpool Corp. Front-loading Washer Prod. Liab. Litig., No. 08-WP-65000, 2016 WL 5338012 (N.D. Ohio Sept. 23, 2016)..... 29

Jones v. Novastar Fin., Inc., 257 F.R.D. 181 (W.D. Mo. 2009)..... 38

Kaplan v. Saint Peter's Healthcare Sys., 810 F.3d 175 (3d Cir. 2015) 5

Ledford ex rel. Epperson v. Colbert, No. 10-cv-706, 2012 WL 1207211 (S.D. Ohio Apr. 11, 2012)..... 32

Malchman v. Davis, 761 F.2d 893 (2nd Cir. 1985) 29

Michel v. WM Healthcare Solutions, Inc., No. 10-cv-638, 2014 WL 497031 (S.D. Ohio Feb. 7, 2014) 15, 17, 30, 32

Nortel Networks Corp. ERISA Litig., 2009 WL 3294827 (M.D. Tenn. Sept. 2, 2009) 38

Pelzer v. Vassalle, 655 F. App’x 352 (6th Cir. 2016)..... 14

Rankin v. Rots, 220 F.R.D. 511 (E.D. Mich. Apr. 16, 2004)..... 38

Roland v. Convergys Customer Mgmt. Group, Inc., No. 15-cv-00325, 2017 WL 4873343 (S.D. Ohio, Jan. 10, 2017) 20, 28

Rollins v. Dignity Health, 830 F.3d 900 (9th Cir. 2016) 5

Shanehchian v. Macy’s Inc., No. 07-cv-828, 2011 WL 883659 (S.D. Ohio Mar. 10, 2011) 37

Smith v. Aon, 238 F.R.D. 609 (N.D. Ill. 2006) 37, 38

Smith v. OSF HealthCare Sys., No. 16-CV-467-SMY-RJD, 2017 WL 6021625 (S.D. Ill. Dec. 5, 2017)..... 19

Sprague v. General Motors Corp., 133 F.3d 388 (6th Cir. 1998) 32

Stanford v. Foamex L.P., 263 F.R.D. 156 (E.D. Pa. 2009)..... 38

Stapleton v. Advocate Health Care Network, 817 F.3d 517 (7th Cir. 2016) 5

Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Dukes, 131 S. Ct. 2541 (2011) 32, 37

Yost v. First Horizon Nat. Corp., No. 08-cv-2293, 2011 WL 2182262 (W.D. Tenn. June 3, 2011)..... 32, 37, 38

STATUTES

29 U.S.C. § 1002(33)(C)(i) 18

29 U.S.C. § 1021(d)(1) 20

29 U.S.C. § 1021(f)..... 20

29 U.S.C. § 1022..... 20

29 U.S.C. § 1023..... 20

29 U.S.C. § 1025(a)(1)..... 20

29 U.S.C. § 1053(e)(2)..... 20

29 U.S.C. § 1054(c)(3)..... 20

29 U.S.C. § 1055(g)(3) 20

29 U.S.C. § 1082..... 20

29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(2)..... 37

29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(3)..... 37

Cal. Civ. Code § 1542..... 12

ERISA § 101(d)(1)..... 20

ERISA § 101(f)..... 20

ERISA § 102..... 20

ERISA § 103..... 20

ERISA § 105(a)(1)..... 20

ERISA § 203(e)(2)..... 20

ERISA § 204(c)(3)..... 20

ERISA § 205(g)(3)..... 20

ERISA § 3(33)(C)(i) 18

ERISA § 302..... 20

ERISA § 502(a)(3)..... 37

IRC § 410(d)..... 13

RULES

Fed. R. Civ. P. 23..... 2, 31, 36

FED. R. CIV. P. 23 Advisory Committee Notes..... 34

Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(1)..... 31

Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(2)..... 32, 35

Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(3)..... 34, 35

Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(4)..... 34, 35

Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b) 31

FED. R. CIV. P. 23(b)(1)(B) Advisory Committee’s Note (1966 Amendment) 36

Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(3)..... 40

Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e) 14, 39, 40

Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(1)..... 39

Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(g) 4, 34, 38
S.D. Ohio Civ. R. 7.2(a)(3)..... i

TREATISES

Newberg on Class Actions, § 3-13 33

Plaintiffs David Lupp, Janet Whaley, Leslie Beidleman, Patricia Blockus, Charles Bork, Marilyn Gagne, Karl Mauger, Patricia Mauger, Beth Zaworski, Nancy Zink, Mary Alban and Linda Derrick (collectively, the “Named Plaintiffs” or “Plaintiffs”), participants in certain Mercy Health pension plans (the “Plans”),¹ respectfully submit this Memorandum of Law in Support of

¹ There are seven primary Plans at issue, several of which include participants of earlier plans, shown in parenthesis below, which were subsequently merged into one of the seven current plans:

(a) Mercy Health Partners - Northern Region Retirement Plan (St. Charles, St. Vincent, St. Anne) (Toledo) (including the following merged plans: the St. Charles Mercy Hospital Retirement Plan, the St. Vincent Medical Center Defined Benefit Plan, the Riverside Mercy Hospital Retirement Plan (also known as the St. Anne Mercy Hospital Retirement Plan), the Mercy Hospital Plan of Tiffin, Ohio), and the Mercy Health Partners - Northern Region Retirement Plan (Tiffin));

(b) St. Rita’s Medical Center Retirement Plan (Lima);

(c) Community Health Partners Regional Medical Center Employees’ Defined Benefit Pension Plan (Lorain) (including the following merged plans: the St. Joseph Hospital and Health Center Defined Benefit Pension Plan and the Lakeland Community Hospital Defined Benefit Pension Plan);

(d) Retirement Plan for Employees of Humility of Mary Health Partners (Youngstown) (including the following merged plans: the Retirement Plan for Employees of St. Elizabeth Hospital Medical Center, and the Retirement Plan for Employees of St. Joseph Riverside Hospital);

(e) Mercy Health Partners Pension Plan (Northeast Pennsylvania) (including the following merged plans: Mercy Health Partners Pension Plan (NEPA - Scranton), the Mercy Health System Northeast Region Defined Benefit Plan 1, the Mercy Health System Northeast Region Defined Benefit Plan 2), as well as the Mercy Health Partners Wilkes-Barre Employees’ Pension Plan (NEPA - WB));

(f) Mercy Health System - Western Ohio Retirement Plan (Springfield Mercy) (including the following merged plans: the Mercy Memorial Hospital Retirement Plan, the Mercy Medical Center Retirement Plan, the Mercy Health System – Western Ohio Acute Care Facility Retirement Plan, the Mercy Siena Nursing Home Retirement Plan, the McAuley Center Retirement Plan, and the Mercy Health System – Western Ohio Long Term Retirement Plan); and

(g) Mercy Health Partners of Greater Cincinnati Retirement Plan (Cincinnati) (including the following merged plans: the Anderson Mercy Hospital Plan, the Sisters of Mercy of Hamilton, Ohio Retirement Plan, and the Clermont Mercy Hospital Retirement Plan).

The Class Action Settlement Agreement (the “Settlement Agreement”), attached as Exhibit A to the Declaration of Mark P. Kindall in Support of Plaintiffs’ Unopposed Motion for Preliminary Approval (“Kindall Decl.”), has several exhibits, including the proposed forms of notice of Settlement and proposed forms of the Preliminary and Final Approval Orders. The provisions of the Settlement Agreement, including all definitions their Motion for Final Approval of Settlement. All Defendants² agree with and support the ultimate relief Plaintiffs seek. However, Defendants do not agree with some of the averments set forth in this Memorandum and other papers submitted in support of the Motion for Final Approval of Settlement. Plaintiffs seek an Order (1) granting final approval of the Settlement, (2) certifying the below-defined Settlement Class pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 23, and (3) approving the manner of notice that was provided to the proposed Settlement Class (“Notice Plan”).

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiffs’ central contention in this litigation was that Defendants were failing to operate the Plans in accordance with ERISA. In particular, Plaintiffs alleged that the Plans did not meet ERISA’s minimum funding requirements³ and did not pay premiums to the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation (the “PBGC”), that the fiduciaries failed to provide Plan information to participants as required by ERISA and made lower lump sum payments to participants than ERISA would require as a result of using improper actuarial assumptions. Defendants filed Motions to Dismiss, arguing that the Plans were properly within ERISA’s statutory exemption for “church plans” and the alternative state law claims failed as a matter of law (ECF No. 69); Defendants further argued that Plaintiffs failed to show injury. ECF No. 70. Plaintiffs strongly disputed each of these arguments. See ECF Nos. 72 and 73. However, Plaintiffs also recognize that the legal questions at the heart of this case are novel and success is far from assured. In consequence, Plaintiffs engaged in settlement discussions with Defendants and reached a proposed agreement (the “Settlement”) with the assistance and defined terms, are incorporated by reference herein. Thus, all capitalized terms not otherwise defined in this memorandum shall have the same meaning as ascribed to them in the Settlement Agreement.

² The Defendants in this action are Mercy Health (formerly known as Catholic Health Partners), the Mercy Health Retirement Plan Committee, and the individual members of that Committee and any committee that was responsible for carrying out the provisions of the Plans.

³ In the alternative, Plaintiffs alleged that the Plans were underfunded as a matter of state law. See Master Consolidated Complaint (“MCC”), ECF No. 66, Counts 10 (contract) 11 (unjust enrichment) and 12 (trusts).

of an experienced JAMS mediator, Robert Meyer. The parties agreed upon the terms of a proposed settlement through negotiations that extended over a period of months, and the Court granted preliminary approval of the settlement on August 8, 2018. In accordance with the Preliminary Approval Order, Defendants arranged for the delivery of the Court-approved Notice to members of the Class by first-class mail, as well as providing notice to the requisite governmental authorities pursuant to the Class Action Fairness Act (“CAFA”). Plaintiffs now request that the Court grant final approval to the Settlement, certify a Settlement Class, and approve the notice sent to the Class.

II. FACTUAL AND PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

A. Investigation of Claims, Filing of Initial Complaints & Consolidation

Plaintiff David Lupp filed the initial complaint in this matter (the “Lupp Complaint”) on March 30, 2016 concerning the Mercy Health Partners Retirement Plan. Lupp v. Mercy Health, No. 1:16-cv-00441-SJD-SKB. The complaint, which was based on an intensive investigation of the plan at issue and its financial condition, described in detail the structure and governance of the plan, identified plan fiduciaries and the facts that established their fiduciary status, and set forth the factual basis for claiming that the plan was not entitled to “church plan” status under ERISA and was otherwise in violation of ERISA’s requirements.⁴

On May 3, 2016, Janet Whaley, a participant in the St. Vincent Retirement Plan, and Leslie Beidleman, a participant in the St. Vincent Retirement Plan and the Mercy Health Partners – Northern Region Retirement Plan (Cash Balance), filed a related case, Whaley v. Mercy Health, No. 1:16-cv-00518-SJD-SKB (the “Whaley Complaint”), on behalf of themselves and all participants in and beneficiaries of defined pension plans established, maintained, administered and/or sponsored by Mercy Health and its affiliates, which Mercy Health claimed were entitled to ERISA's church plan exemption. The Whaley Complaint was based on an in-depth independent investigation by Whaley's counsel, and contained additional facts and legal theories that were not in the Lupp complaint.⁵ On June 24, 2016, Whaley filed an Amended Complaint, adding as Plaintiffs Patricia Blockus, a participant in the Mercy Health System Wilkes Barre Cash Balance Plan, Charles Bork, Marilyn Gagne and Nancy Zink (like Beidleman, participants in both the St. Vincent Retirement Plan and the Mercy Health Partners – Northern Region Retirement Plan (Cash Balance)), Karl and Patricia Mauger (participants in the Mercy Health Partners Pension Plan/Mercy Health Partners (NEPA) Plan), and Beth Zaworski, a participant in several of the Mercy Health Plans. Whaley Pl. Decl., ¶ 8 and ECF No. 26.

⁴ See Declaration of Mark Gyandoh in Support of Plaintiffs’ Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement (“Gyandoh Decl.”), filed herewith, at ¶ 3.

On June 30, 2016, Mary Alban filed an additional related complaint. Alban v. Mercy Health, No. 1:16-cv-00726-SJD-SKB. The Court consolidated the Lupp and Whaley actions on July 21, 2016 (ECF No. 30), and consolidated the Alban action with the prior two actions on August 11, 2016 (ECF No. 38). In accordance with a schedule proposed by the parties (ECF No. 16) and approved by the Court (ECF No. 20), Plaintiff Lupp and the Whaley Plaintiffs filed competing motions to appoint interim class counsel and liaison counsel pursuant to Federal Rule 23(g) (ECF Nos. 25 and 33). On December 2, 2016, Magistrate Judge Bowman issued a report and recommendation that the Lupp 23(g) motion should be granted, the Whaley 23(g) motion should be denied, and that IZARD, Kindall & Raabe, LLP (“IKR”) and Kessler Topaz Meltzer & Check, LLP (“KTMC”) should be appointed interim co-lead counsel for the class, and Strauss Troy Co., LPA should be appointed interim liaison counsel (ECF No. 42). The Court confirmed the recommendation (ECF No. 58) after the Whaley Plaintiffs withdrew their objection (ECF Nos. 45 and 57).

⁵ See Joint Declaration of Laura R. Gerber, Michelle C. Yau, and Thomas R. Theado in Support of Plaintiffs' Unopposed Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement (“Whaley Pl. Decl.”), filed herewith, at ¶¶ 4-9.

B. The Master Consolidated Complaint & Motions to Dismiss

The next step in the litigation was to craft the MCC for the now-combined actions, incorporating the work that all Plaintiffs' counsel had done to that point, as well as additional investigations conducted subsequent to the filing of the earlier complaints. To ensure that the MCC was as complete and accurate as possible, Interim Class Counsel engaged in discussions with counsel for Defendants to expedite responses to certain of the initial discovery requests that had been served on Defendants on January 18, 2017. Kindall Decl., ¶ 7.

While Class Counsel were working to finalize the MCC, the U.S. Supreme Court issued its ruling in Advocate Health Care Network v. Stapleton, ___ U.S. ___, 137 S. Ct. 1652 (June 5, 2017). The Supreme Court had granted certiorari in three cases involving large health care companies that were not operating their pension plans in accordance with ERISA based on a claim, challenged by plaintiffs, that each of the plans qualified as an ERISA-exempt "church plan."⁶ The Advocate decision was limited to resolving a question of statutory construction central to all three cases: whether a plan that had not been established by a church in the first instance could be considered a church plan. Advocate, 137 S. Ct. at 1656. While the Court determined that ERISA imposed no requirement that a church plan be originally established by a church, the Court did not address whether the plans at issue in the three cases otherwise qualified for the statutory exemption. Id. at 1657 n.2.

⁶ The appellate court rulings reviewed (and overturned) by Advocate were Stapleton v. Advocate Health Care Network, 817 F.3d 517 (7th Cir. 2016), Kaplan v. Saint Peter's Healthcare Sys., 810 F.3d 175 (3d Cir. 2015), and Rollins v. Dignity Health, 830 F.3d 900 (9th Cir. 2016).

Although the Advocate decision was limited to the precise issue of statutory construction considered by the Court, the ruling did foreclose one of the primary arguments Plaintiffs had advanced in their initial complaints as to why the Plans at issue in this case should not be considered “church plans.” This required Plaintiffs to substantially revise their approach to the MCC, focusing on provisions of the statute that had not been addressed in Advocate, and adding state law claims as alternative grounds for relief. Kindall Decl., ¶ 8. The final MCC was 70 pages long and included 402 paragraphs of detailed factual and legal allegations in support of Plaintiffs’ claims. Plaintiffs completed and filed the MCC on September 14, 2017 (ECF No. 66).

On November 13, 2017, Defendants filed a lengthy Motion to Dismiss the MCC for failure to state a claim pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(6) together with supporting addenda, declarations and exhibits (see ECF Nos. 69 – 69-33). Defendants simultaneously filed a Motion to Dismiss for lack of jurisdiction under FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(1) (see ECF Nos. 70 – 70-5).

Just over a month after Defendants filed their Motions to Dismiss, and while Plaintiffs were in the midst of preparing their briefs in opposition to both motions, the Tenth Circuit issued its decision in Medina v. Catholic Health Initiatives, 877 F.3d 1213 (10th Cir. 2017). Kindall Decl., ¶ 10. Medina, like the instant case, was a challenge to a hospital system’s claim that its pension plan was entitled to the “church plan” exemption in ERISA. The Tenth Circuit upheld the Colorado District Court’s decision granting summary judgment for the defendants on grounds which were applicable to certain of the arguments advanced by Plaintiffs here. Accordingly, in responding to Defendant’s Rule 12(b)(6) motion, Plaintiffs had to address an area of law that was both new and subject to shifting interpretations. Plaintiffs filed the briefs in opposition to Defendants’ motions to dismiss on January 12, 2018. ECF Nos. 72 & 73.

C. Mediation, Settlement and Preliminary Approval

Following Plaintiffs' filing of their briefs in opposition to the motions to dismiss, interim Class Counsel and counsel for Defendants discussed the possibility of resolving the case through mediation. In late January, 2018 the parties retained Robert Meyer, an independent JAMS mediator who had successfully mediated several other cases involving ERISA's "church plan" exemption, and scheduled an in-person mediation session for February 27, 2018 in Chicago. Kindall Decl., ¶ 11; Gyandoh Decl., ¶ 8.

In preparation for the mediation, Interim Class Counsel consulted with an actuarial expert concerning the adequacy of the Plans' current funding levels. Based on current market values, Plaintiffs' expert concluded that the Plans would not be required to make additional contributions to the Plans this year in the event that they were required to meet ERISA's minimum funding requirements. Kindall Decl., ¶ 12. As a result, even if Plaintiffs were to prevail on the merits today, given current funding levels and improved market conditions since the cases were filed, it is unlikely that the judgment would have required Defendants to provide additional funding for the Plans this year.⁷

The mediation took place as scheduled on February 27, 2018, and lasted all day, with the parties negotiating back-and-forth on each significant point. At the end of the day, as the Parties had not otherwise been able to reach agreement, Mr. Meyer made a mediator's proposal and gave each Party a week to inform him, on a confidential basis, whether they accepted the proposal. On March ⁷ Of course, if the Court required Defendants to operate the Plans in accordance with ERISA, the statutory minimum funding levels would have had to be maintained indefinitely. Since funding levels depend, in part, on the market performance of the investments made by the Plans' trust funds, there is no guarantee that a plan that meets minimum requirements today will continue to meet them in the future.

6, 2018, the mediator reported that both sides had accepted his proposal. Kindall Decl., ¶ 13; Gyandoh Decl., ¶ 8; Whaley Pl. Decl, ¶ 12.

Following the successful mediation, the Parties negotiated a term sheet that incorporated the specific proposals discussed during the mediation. Kindall Decl., ¶ 14. The Parties then began the process of negotiating the Settlement Agreement itself, which incorporated the provisions of the term sheet and other ancillary issues and general terms, as well as the exhibits to the Settlement Agreement, including the class notice of settlement. Id. Several of the key terms – first in the term sheet, then in the Settlement Agreement – required significant additional negotiations, both in writing and through conference calls. As a result, the negotiations took longer than the Parties had anticipated, which necessitated requesting an extension of the stay the Court had previously entered. Id.; see also ECF Nos. 78 & 79. The Settlement Agreement was finalized and executed by the Parties on July 13, 2018. On July 17, 2018, Plaintiffs filed an Unopposed Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement, Preliminary Certification of Settlement Class, Approval of Class Notice and Scheduling of a Fairness Hearing (the “Preliminary Approval Motion,” ECF No. 81), together with supporting declarations, exhibits and a memorandum of law (ECF Nos. 81-1 – 81-20).

The Court held a telephonic conference on the Preliminary Approval Motion on August 8, 2018, after which the Parties filed a Joint Motion to Proceed Before Magistrate Judge (ECF No. 83-1). The Court granted the Motion on August 8, 2018 (ECF No. 84), after which the Court (Bowman, J.) issued an order (the “Preliminary Approval Order”) granting the Preliminary Approval Motion (ECF No. 85). After setting forth the necessary preliminary factual findings, the Court preliminarily certified the class and appointed the Named Plaintiffs as Class Representatives, appointed IKR and KTMC as Class Counsel and Strauss Troy Co., LPA as Liaison Counsel. Id., ¶ 2. The Court made a preliminary finding that the Settlement met the standards for approval (Id., ¶ 3), and approved the proposed form of Class Notice, which had been submitted as an attachment to the Settlement Agreement. Id., ¶ 5. The Court set Wednesday, November 28, 2018, as the date for the final approval hearing and provided a schedule for giving notice to the Class, filing objections to the Settlement, and submitting briefs on final approval, class certification, and payment of case contribution awards to lead plaintiffs as well as attorneys' fees and expenses. Id., ¶¶4-10.

D. Notice to the Class

Defendant Mercy Health retained Dahl Administration LLC ("Dahl") to provide notice to the Class in accordance with the terms of the Preliminary Approval Order. Pursuant to instructions by Defendants' counsel, Dahl mailed 37,433 notice packets to class members identified by Mercy Health based on its internal records of participation in the Plans. Declaration of Kimberley K. Ness With Respect to Due Diligence and Proof of Mailing ("Ness Decl."), attached to the Kindall Decl. as Exh. C, at ¶ 8. The notice packets contained the Class Notice approved by the Court in the Preliminary Approval Order. Dahl provided additional notice, in the form of a postcard with language agreed by the Parties, to those Class Members who would be entitled to $450 payments under the "lump sum" provisions of the Settlement. Id. at ¶¶ 9-10. In addition, Class Counsel posted the Class Notice on a dedicated page on IKR's website (<http://ikrlaw.com/file/mercy-health/>) on August 23, 2018, together with documents relevant to the case and the settlement, including the Complaint, the memoranda and declarations supporting preliminary approval, and the Preliminary Approval Order itself. Kindall Decl., ¶ 18.

On September 27, 2018, the Parties jointly moved to modify the Preliminary Approval Order to allow late notice to be served on approximately 4,400 Class Members, whose names had inadvertently not been included on the initial mailing list. ECF No. 90. In their motion, which the Court granted on the same day, the Parties requested that class members served with the late notice be permitted to file their objections up to the day of hearing. In accordance with the schedule proposed to the Court in the Motion, Defendant caused the notice to be sent by first class mail on October 1, 2018, and Plaintiffs' counsel posted the revised notice on the settlement webpage on September 27, 2018. See Ness Decl., ¶¶ 11-13; Kindall Decl., ¶ 20.

Since the Class Notice was sent out, Class Counsel have received well over 100 telephone calls from Class Members. Kindall Decl., ¶ 27; Gyandoh Decl., ¶ 8. Primarily, class members called to make sure that they understood the settlement terms and how the settlement might affect them, and their response was generally supportive. Id.

Nine people filed objection forms with the Court. Class Counsel reached out to each class member who filed an objection, either by telephone or in writing. Id., ¶¶ 29-39. To ensure that interested Class Members could consider the papers submitted in support of final approval, the Preliminary Approval Order set a November 14, 2018 deadline for filing objections (Preliminary Approval Order, ¶ 6), and a November 27, 2018 deadline for those to whom notice was sent on October 1, 2018 (ECF No. 90) and thus more objections may be submitted prior to the hearing. Class Counsel will provide an update and response to any additional objections in advance of the hearing.

E. Terms of the Proposed Settlement

The Settlement provides that Defendants will continue to operate the Plans as “church plans,” and Plaintiffs and Settlement Class Members will provide a release of claims. Settlement Agreement, § 4. In exchange, the Settlement provides the following benefits to the Settlement Class:

- Benefits Commitment: For a period of nine (9) years, if any of the Plans are unable to pay the accrued benefits due to Settlement Class Members, Mercy Health guarantees, and will cause any successor of Mercy Health to guarantee, that the trust funds of each of the Plans shall have sufficient funds to pay the benefits due.

Furthermore, if the Plans are merged with or into another plan during that nine-year period, the Plans' participants will be entitled to the same (or greater) benefits post-merger as they enjoyed before the merger. Settlement Agreement, § 9.2.

- Additional Information for Plan Participants: For a period of nine (9) years, Mercy Health will make a Plan summary available electronically, which will disclose the Plans' fiduciaries, the persons or entities with authority to make Plan amendments, describe the benefits available under the Plans, the distribution options and other general information. Settlement Agreement, § 9.3. Additionally, over the same nine-year period, Settlement Class Members will be able to obtain up-to-date information about their plan benefits, including information about their accrued benefits and projected benefits, either through a toll-free number, a website or a printed statement. Settlement Agreement, § 9.4.

- Additional Payment to Certain Settlement Class Members Who Took Lump Sum Distributions from January 1, 2011 Through and Including February 27, 2018:

The MCC included allegations that the St. Anne, St. Charles and St. Vincent Plans (which are all part of the Mercy Health Partners – Northern Region Retirement Plan) made distributions to participants who elected to take a lump sum payment that were less than they would have been, had ERISA's mandated actuarial assumptions been used to calculate the payments. MCC ¶¶ 71-82, 236 and 237. As determined through discovery, during the period from January 1, 2011 through the date of the mediation, approximately 1,390 participants in the Mercy Health Partners-Northern Region Retirement Plan, the Mercy Health Partners of Greater Cincinnati Retirement Plan or the St. Rita's Medical Center Retirement Plan received voluntary lump sum payments that would have been higher had ERISA's rules been applied. Under the Settlement, each of these Settlement Class Members will receive an additional $450 as a lump sum payment. Settlement Agreement, §§ 8.1 and 8.2.

- Notice to the Settlement Class: The Settlement Agreement provides that Defendants will pay for the cost of providing the Court-approved notice to Settlement Class Members by first-class mail. Settlement Agreement, § 8.5.
- Payment of attorneys' fees and expenses and case contribution awards: Defendants have agreed to pay Plaintiffs' reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses as well as Case Contribution Awards to the Named Plaintiffs in recognition of their efforts on behalf of the Settlement Class. Settlement Agreement, § 8.3 and 8.4. The Settlement Agreement provides that the amounts to be paid for attorneys' fees and expenses and for Named Plaintiff Case Contribution Awards will be determined by the Court at its discretion, but that the total amount Defendants will be required to pay for all of these items combined will not exceed $850,000. Id. Any such payment will not reduce the amount of the guarantee, the amount of the lump sum payments, or otherwise affect any other benefit received by the Class under the Settlement. The Settlement Agreement is not contingent upon the Court's award of attorneys' fees or expenses or Case Contribution Awards for the Named Plaintiffs. Settlement Agreement, § 11.4.

Under the proposed Settlement, Plaintiffs and Settlement Class Members will fully, finally, and forever release any and all actual or potential claims, actions, causes of action, demands, obligations, liabilities, attorneys' fees, expenses and costs under federal or state laws arising out of the allegations of the Complaint that were brought or could have been brought as of the date of the Settlement Agreement, including the distributions to the Lump Sum Class Members, any current or prospective challenge to the “Church Plan” status of the Plans.⁸

The claims released in the Settlement Agreement do not include:

- (a) any rights or duties arising out of the Settlement Agreement;
- (b) individual claims for benefits brought under state law (provided that no Settlement Class member shall challenge the Plan’s status as a church plan exempt from ERISA in any such claim);
- (c) claims related to any other plan that is merged into or consolidated with any of the Plans after April 26, 2018;
- (d) all prospective claims under ERISA that might arise if the Roman Catholic Church ever disassociates itself from the Plans’ sponsors, unless the Plans’ sponsors promptly associate with another church; and
- (e) any claim arising under ERISA with respect to any event occurring after: (i) the Internal Revenue Service issues a written ruling that the Plan(s), or any of them, do not qualify as a church plan (limited only to claims by members of the Plan or Plans covered by such a ruling), (ii) a Plan makes an election under IRC § 410(d) to be covered by ERISA (limited on to claims by members of the Plan or Plans that make such an election); (iii) an amendment to ERISA is enacted and becomes effective as a law of the United States eliminating the Church Plan exemption in ERISA; or (iv) the Roman Catholic Church claims no association with the Plans’ Sponsor. Settlement Agreement, § 4.

⁸ Settlement Agreement, § 4. The Settlement Agreement also provides that Plaintiffs and the Settlement Class will expressly waive and relinquish, to the fullest extent permitted by law, the provisions, rights and benefits of § 1542 of the California Civil Code, which provides:

A general release does not extend to claims which the creditor does not know or suspect to exist in his favor at the time of executing the release, which if known by him must have materially affected his settlement with the debtor and any and all provisions, rights and benefits of any similar statute, law or principle or common law of the United States, any state thereof, or any other jurisdiction.

III. THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT IS FAIR, REASONABLE AND ADEQUATE AND SHOULD BE APPROVED BY THE COURT

A. The Law Favors and Encourages Settlements

There are three steps which must be taken by the court in order to approve a settlement: “(1) the court must preliminarily approve the proposed settlement, (2) members of the class must be given notice of the proposed settlement, and (3) after holding a hearing, the court must give its final approval of the settlement.” Amos v. PPG Indus., Inc., No. 05-cv-70, 2015 WL 4881459, at *1 (S.D. Ohio Aug. 13, 2015) (citing FED. R. CIV. P. 23(e)). The case has now reached the final stage.

Settlement of class actions “is generally favored and encouraged.” Connectivity Sys. Inc. v. Nat’l City Bank, No. 08-cv-1119, 2011 WL 292008, at *1 (S.D. Ohio Jan. 26, 2011) (citing Franks v. Kroger Co., 649 F.2d 1216, 1224 (6th Cir. 1981)); In re Nationwide Fin. Servs. Litig., No. 08-cv-249, 2009 WL 8747486, at *1 (S.D. Ohio Aug. 19, 2009) (finding the law generally favors and encourages the settlement of class actions); In re Broadwing, Inc. ERISA Litig., 252 F.R.D. 369 (S.D. Ohio 2006) (same).

B. The Proposed Settlement Should be Approved

The Sixth Circuit has directed courts to consider the following factors in evaluating the fairness, adequacy and reasonableness of a proposed settlement:

(1) the risk of fraud or collusion; (2) the complexity, expense and likely duration of the litigation; (3) the amount of discovery engaged in by the parties; (4) the likelihood of success on the merits; (5) the opinions of class counsel and class representatives; (6) the reaction of absent class members; and (7) the public interest.

UAW v. Gen. Motors Corp., 497 F.3d 615, 630 (6th Cir. 2007); see also Pelzer v. Vassalle, 655 F. App’x 352, 359 (6th Cir. 2016) (quoting UAW). “The district court enjoys wide discretion in assessing the weight and applicability of these factors.” In re Delphi Corp. Sec., Derivative & “ERISA” Litig., 248 F.R.D. 483, 496 (E.D. Mich. 2008) (quoting Granada Inv. v. DWG Corp., 962 F.2d 1203, 1205-06 (6th Cir. 1992)). These factors support the conclusion that the proposed Settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate, and should be approved.

1. The Proposed Settlement Was the Product of Arms-Length Negotiations and Was Not Procured by Any Fraud or Collusion

“Courts presume the absence of fraud or collusion in class action settlements unless there is evidence to the contrary.” Johnson v. W2007 Grace Acquisition I, Inc., No. 13-2777, 2015 WL 12001269, at *5 (W.D. Tenn. Dec. 4, 2015). Here, there is no evidence of fraud or collusion. Rather, the Settlement was reached after Plaintiffs had: (1) thoroughly investigated the factual and legal basis for their claims, in the course of preparing their initial complaints and the MCC; (2) obtained and evaluated substantial information concerning the current financial condition of the Plans and consulted with an actuarial expert; (3) fully briefed two motions to dismiss; (4) participated in a mediation process involving a full-day, formal mediation session before a highly-respected independent mediator, which resulted in the issuance of a mediator’s proposal for settlement; (5) conducted lengthy and numerous follow-up discussions and exchanges of drafts. The litigation has already lasted over two years.

As this Court has noted, “[t]he involvement of two different plaintiffs’ firms, two different defense firms, and an independent mediator greatly decrease the risk of fraud or collusion.” Michel v. WM Healthcare Solutions, Inc., No. 10-cv-638, 2014 WL 497031, at * 9 (S.D. Ohio Feb. 7, 2014) (citing Hainey v. Parrott, 617 F. Supp. 2d 668, 673 (S.D. Ohio 2007)); see also Palombaro v. Emery Fed. Credit Union, No. 1:15-CV-792, 2018 WL 4635973, at *3 (S.D. Ohio Sept. 27, 2018) (that settlement was reached after a full-day mediation with a Magistrate Judge “reflect[ed] the arms-length nature of such negotiations); Gokare v. Fed. Express Corp., No. 11-cv-2131, 2013 WL 12094870, at *3 (W.D. Tenn. Nov. 22, 2013) (“The participation of an independent mediator in the settlement negotiations virtually assures that the negotiations were conducted at arm’s length and without collusion between the parties.”). Here, Defendants were represented by Howard Shapiro, co-chair of the ERISA litigation group at Proskauer Rose LLP, a prominent defense firm with an international reputation. Plaintiffs were represented at the mediation by co-lead counsel from IZARD, KINDALL & RAABE and KESSLER TOPAZ MELTZER & CHECK, joined by plaintiffs’ counsel from KELLER ROHRBACK. All three firms have extensive experience in class actions, complex litigation, ERISA and – in particular – the ERISA “church plan” litigation. See, e.g., ECF Nos. 25 & 35. Moreover, the involvement of the independent JAMS mediator was critical to reaching the Settlement.

2. The Complexity, Expense and Likely Duration of the Litigation

“In evaluating a proposed class settlement, the court must weigh the risks, expense, and delay plaintiffs would face if they continued to prosecute the litigation through trial and appeal.” Johnson, 2015 WL 12001269, at *6. Here, absent the Settlement, the Parties would face extended litigation. Although the case has been litigated over two years, Defendants’ motions to dismiss are still pending.⁹ Assuming the MCC survived the motions to dismiss, additional fact and expert discovery, class certification, summary judgment, trial and possible appeals all lie ahead.

The history of the litigation to date demonstrates that the issues are both novel and complicated. When the Lupp action was filed on March 30, 2016, appellate panels of the Third and Seventh Circuits had just unanimously determined that pension plans not initially established by a church could not qualify for the church plan exemption, and a panel of the Ninth Circuit, again without dissent, agreed on July 26, 2016. Despite the absence of a circuit split – indeed, there was not even a split among circuit court judges, since all three decisions were unanimous – the Supreme Court granted certiorari and unanimously reversed all three rulings in June of 2017, while Plaintiffs were preparing the MCC. While Plaintiffs were briefing the motions to dismiss, the Tenth Circuit issued Medina, the first appellate court ruling addressing the issues left unresolved by the Supreme Court in Advocate.

⁹ This Action was stayed prior to Defendants filing replies in support of their motions to dismiss.

The Sixth Circuit has not had occasion to address any of the issues of statutory construction involved in the ERISA church plan exemption cases. Thus, this factor supports approval because the Settlement “secures a substantial benefit for the Class in a highly complex action, undiminished by further expenses, and without delay, costs, and uncertainty of protracted litigation.” Gokare, 2013 WL 12094870, at *4.

3. The Litigation Efforts Including Discovery

As described in detail above, the case has been litigated for two years. Before filing their original complaints, counsel for Plaintiffs thoroughly investigated the facts and legal landscape underpinning the allegations. Further investigation, coupled with information obtained in discovery, went into crafting the MCC, which is the operative complaint in the action. More factual information was provided in the course of the briefing on the motions to dismiss, and in preparation for mediation, Plaintiffs also obtained up-to-date information concerning current funding levels for the Plans. Thus, while Plaintiffs did not conduct extensive discovery, their efforts provided more than sufficient information to assess the strengths and weaknesses of their case and confirm the appropriateness of the Settlement. Johnson, 2015 WL 12001269, at *6 (“The parties’ discovery must enable them to evaluate frankly the merits of the case and determine an appropriate settlement value.”) (citing Olden v. Gardner, 294 Fed. Appx. 210, 218 (6th Cir. 2008)); see also Michel, 2014 WL 497031, at *9 (discovery need not be substantial so long as it is adequate). Accordingly, this factor is satisfied.

4. The Settlement Considered In Light of the Likelihood of Success on the Merits

“The most important of the factors to be considered in reviewing a settlement is the probability of success on the merits. The likelihood of success, in turn, provides a gauge from which the benefits of the settlement must be measured.” Johnson, 2015 WL 12001269, at *7 (quoting Poplar Creek Dev. Co. v. Chesapeake Appalachia, L.L.C., 636 F.3d 235, 245 (6th Cir. 2011)). “A plaintiff’s likelihood of success should be weighed against the amount and form of relief offered in the settlement.” Johnson, 2015 WL 12001269, at *7. “[The court’s] task is not to decide whether one side is right or even whether one side has the better of these arguments. Otherwise, [the court] would be compelled to defeat the purpose of a settlement in order to approve a settlement.” Id.

The Supreme Court’s Advocate decision does not affect ERISA’s requirement that a church plan be “maintained by” either a church, or “an organization . . . the principal purpose or function of which is the administration or funding of a plan or program for the provision of retirement benefits . . . if such organization is controlled by or associated with a church or a convention or association of churches. See ERISA § 3(33)(C)(i), 29 U.S.C. § 1002(33)(C)(i). Thus, in crafting the MCC, Plaintiffs focused on these statutory provisions as the primary basis for the suit. Plaintiffs believe that their arguments are correct, as set forth at length in their opposition to Defendants’ 12(b)(6) Motion to Dismiss. See ECF No. 73, at pp. 4-13 (arguing that Mercy Health itself, rather than the Plan Committee, “maintained” the Plans), at 13-14 (arguing that Mercy Health is neither a church nor an organization the principal purpose of which is the administration or funding of a retirement plan (a “principal purpose organization”)), at 14-16 (arguing that, even if the Plan Committee “maintained” the Plans, it could not be considered a “principal purpose organization”), and at pp. 19-24 (arguing that neither Mercy Health nor the Plan Committee are controlled by or associated with a church). Moreover, Plaintiffs argued that the “church plan” exemption would violate the Establishment Clause if it were applied so broadly as to include the Plans at issue here. Id. at pages 24-28. Plaintiffs recognize, however, that there is a risk that the Court would not be persuaded by these arguments, which were recently rejected by the Tenth Circuit in Medina.¹⁰

Plaintiffs’ state law claims, pled in the alternative, focus on causes of action Plaintiffs might have under state contract, quasi-contract and trust law to address underfunding of the Plans in the event the Court were to determine that the Plans are exempt from ERISA. Again, Plaintiffs believe that these claims are valid, as discussed in detail in their opposition to the motion to dismiss. See ECF No. 73, at pp. 29-35. However, Plaintiffs again recognize that the Court might disagree with Plaintiffs’ analysis. In Smith v. OSF HealthCare Sys., No. 16-CV-467-SMY-RJD, 2017 WL 6021625, at *4 (S.D. Ill. Dec. 5, 2017), for example, the District Court declined to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over similar state-law claims.

Had Plaintiffs obtained a complete victory at trial and further succeeded in defending that judgment on appeal, Defendants would have been compelled to operate the Plans in accordance with all of the requirements of ERISA. Assuming that the Plans’ funding levels did not deteriorate between the time of the mediation and the time of trial, it is unlikely that a judgment for Plaintiffs would have required Mercy Health to make additional payments to the Plans for that year, as current funding levels appear to meet ERISA’s minimum requirements.¹¹ Nonetheless, the value of a Plaintiffs' judgment in this case would have been both high and very difficult to quantify.¹² As described in the MCC, ERISA establishes numerous protections, both substantive and procedural, for participants in covered retirement plans. ERISA plans must meet certain minimum funding requirements, not just on a particular date, but consistently. Employers must make good any funding shortfalls (ERISA § 302, 29 U.S.C. § 1082), and moreover must pay insurance premiums to the federal Pension Benefit Guarantee Corporation. Lump sum payments must be the "actuarial equivalent" of normal retirement benefits, based on established mortality tables and interest rates. ERISA §§ 204(c)(3), 203(e)(2) and 205(g)(3) (29 U.S.C. §§ 1054(c)(3), 1053(e)(2) and 1055(g)(3)). Employers are required to file annual reports with the Secretary of Labor (ERISA § 103, 29 U.S.C. § 1023), and must notify participants and beneficiaries if the plans are not meeting minimum funding levels (ERISA § 101(d)(1), 29 U.S.C. § 1021(d)(1)). Participants are also entitled to annual funding notices (ERISA § 101(f), 29 U.S.C. § 1021(f)), pension benefit statements (ERISA § 105(a)(1) 29 U.S.C. § 1025(a)(1)) and summary plan descriptions (ERISA § 102, 29 U.S.C. § 1022).

¹⁰ Plaintiffs have no similar concerns about the jurisdictional arguments Defendants have presented in their Rule 12(b)(1) motion. While some courts, as discussed above, have been sympathetic to defendants’ views concerning the scope of the church plan exemption, Defendants’ jurisdictional arguments are, in Plaintiffs’ estimation, unsupported and contrary to law. See ECF No. 72.

¹¹ As noted above, this conclusion was based on an analysis by Plaintiffs’ actuarial expert concerning the current funding status of the Plans. See also Declaration of Mitchell I. Serota, attached to the Kindall Declaration as Exhibit B, at ¶¶ 4-12.

¹² Plaintiffs recognize that the Court is properly concerned with comparing the result achieved in the proposed Settlement to what the Settlement Class might reasonably have achieved had Plaintiffs prevailed at trial. Roland v. Convergys Customer Mgmt. Group, Inc., No. 15-cv-00325, 2017 WL 4873343 (S.D. Ohio, Jan. 10, 2017). Here, however, the litigation primarily sought injunctive relief that would require Defendants to operate the Plans in accordance with ERISA. This would not have been a one-time only effort, but an obligation that would have continued so long as the Plans and the law remained unchanged. It is possible to estimate what the Plans would have had to pay for PBGC premiums (see Serota Decl., ¶¶ 13-25). However, it is not possible to quantify how even that obligation would have changed over time. Mercy Health would have been required to continue meeting ERISA's minimum funding requirements indefinitely, but the cost of doing so would depend on the performance of the Plans' investments, changes in the demographic profile of plan participants over time, and other factors. The costs and benefits of other ERISA requirements, like providing benefits statements and summary plan descriptions, is even more difficult to quantify. But the fact that these benefits, collectively, are impossible to quantify does not diminish the fact that they are real, concrete, and highly valuable. ERISA was passed to protect retirees from having their pensions wiped out by insolvency; the protections of the statute are very important to workers. See Advocate Health Care, 137 S. Ct. at 1663 (concurring opinion of Sotomayor, J.) (noting that ERISA was designed to ensure that workers who have been promised pensions and fulfilled all vesting requirements would actually receive them upon retirement, and acknowledging that the failure of unregulated "church plans" had spurred litigation to limit the scope of the exemption).

A judgment for Defendants, on the other hand, would have left in place a very unsatisfactory status quo. The Plans specifically provide that there is no obligation for Mercy Health or any other person to pay Plan benefits other than from the Trust. Kindall Decl, ¶ 24. Nor are Plan Participants presently entitled to receive any information about the Plans, the Plan fiduciaries, distribution options, or their accrued and projected benefits. Reduced lump sum payments, already made, would be left undisturbed in the event Defendants prevailed.

As this Court has recognized, “class action settlements represent a compromise of disputed claims”; because settlements are “a product of “compromise efforts by adversaries and [u]sually neither side will attain all its goals.” Rikos v. Proctor & Gamble Co., No. 1:11-CV-226, 2018 WL 2009681, at *13 (S.D. Ohio Apr. 30, 2018) (internal citations and quotations omitted). In light of the substantial risks involved in the case – risks that continued to grow in light of Advocate and cases that have been decided subsequently – the proposed Settlement is a very good result for the Settlement Class. Mercy Health, which included language in each of the Plans disclaiming responsibility for funding deficiencies, will guarantee payments for a period of nine years. This is tantamount to Mercy Health serving as an insurer for Plan benefits for the next nine years. Plaintiffs’ expert estimates that the PBGC, which effectively provides a reinsurance benefit to covered pension plans (since ERISA requires employers to make up shortfalls in the first instance), would charge premiums in excess of $63 million to insure payments for all of the Plans over the nine-year period, based on the size of the Plans and the number of participants. Serota Decl., ¶ 25. This is a fair estimate of the market value of Mercy Health’s nine-year guarantee. Id. at ¶¶ 13-24. On top of that, the Settlement Agreement also provides a payment of $450 to approximately 1,390 Settlement Class members who took lump sum payments between 2011 and February of 2018 – a hard-dollar payment of $625,500. Finally, the Settlement Agreement requires that Defendants provide Plan Participants with information concerning the Plans and their benefits for the next nine years that, while less than ERISA requires, is still substantially in excess of what Defendants are currently required to provide under the terms of the Plans themselves. The Settlement thus provides substantial benefits to the Settlement Class, and is a meaningful result when viewed against the significant hurdles Plaintiffs and Class Counsel faced. Accordingly, this factor is satisfied.

5. Class Counsel and the Class Representatives Support the Settlement

“In deciding whether a proposed settlement warrants approval, the informed and reasoned judgment of plaintiffs’ counsel and their weighing of the relative risks and benefits of protracted litigation are entitled to great deference.” Johnson, 2015 WL 12001269, at *8. “Class counsel’s judgment that settlement is in the best interests of the class is entitled to significant weight, and supports the fairness of the class settlement.” Gokare, 2013 WL 12094870, at *6.

Here, Class Counsel KTMC and IKR have extensive ERISA class action experience, including “church plan” litigation experience. This Court recognized as much in appointing KTMC and IKR as Interim Co-Lead Class Counsel (Dkt. Nos. 42 & 58). Indeed, this is the fourth “church plan” settlement that KTMC and IKR worked on together and IKR’s fifth settlement of a “church plan” action. Recognizing the very real risks that Defendants might prevail either at trial or on appeal, leaving the Plans’ status quo in place, Plaintiffs’ Counsel endeavored to obtain the greatest possible amount of protection for Plans and Participants on a forward-looking basis. The Settlement secures a nine-year funding guarantee and additional benefits described above. Class Counsel believe this is a very good result for the Settlement Class given the facts and circumstances of this particular Action. Kindall Decl., ¶ 22; Gyandoh Decl., ¶ 8. Interim Liaison Class Counsel and counsel for the Whaley and Alban Plaintiffs likewise support the proposed settlement. See Declaration of Ronald R. Parry in Support of Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary Approval of a Class Action Settlement ("Parry Decl."), at ¶ 5; Whaley Pl. Decl., ¶ 14; Declaration of Thomas J. McKenna in Support of Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary Approval of a Class Action Settlement ("McKenna Decl."), ¶ 9. Accordingly, this factor is satisfied. See, e.g., Gokare, 2013 WL 12094870, at *6 ("It is well settled that, in approving a class action settlement, the court 'should defer to the judgment of experienced counsel who has competently evaluated the strength of [its] proofs.'").

The Class Representatives have been involved in this litigation since its inception, meeting in-person with counsel and/or participating in numerous telephonic conversations with both their own counsel and Class Counsel, including with respect to the Settlement. After discussing all the relevant considerations, the Class Representatives approved the Settlement. Gyandoh Decl., ¶ 8; Whaley Pl. Decl., ¶ 14; McKenna Decl., ¶ 8.

6. Reaction of Other Class Representatives

Although the deadline for filing objections to the settlement has not yet passed, it has been two months since the Class received notice of the settlement. In that time period, Class Counsel have spoken with well over 100 class members, and several class members have either filed objections with the Court or sent them to Class Counsel. Kindall Decl., ¶¶ 27-39; Gyandoh Decl., ¶ 8. All objections not filed with the Court, including those that were sent in error, are attached to the Kindall Declaration in Exhibit E.

Most class members who called about the settlement were seeking a better understanding of what the case was about and what the settlement meant for them and for their pensions. The reaction of class members was generally positive after they had an opportunity to discuss the settlement with counsel. Several current plan participants expressed concern that the additional protections in the Settlement Agreement did not last beyond nine years, but understood that the settlement was a compromise. See Kindall Decl., ¶ 27.

Out of over 40,000 class members who were served with the notice, nine filed objections. As described in more detail below, only four of the objections appear to be directed to the merits of the Settlement, and of those, one has been withdrawn. An additional 14 forms were submitted to the Notice Administrator or to counsel, but those appear to have been sent in error.¹³ As this Court has observed, a “small number of objectors is a good indication of the fairness of the settlement.” Amos, 2015 WL 4881459, at * 5 (quoting Broadwing, 252 F.R.D. at 371). In Olden v. Gardner, 294 Fed. Appx. 210, 217 (6th Cir. 2008), the Sixth Circuit found that 79 objections in a class of nearly 11,000 members “tends to support a finding that the settlement is fair.” Here, the class is nearly four times larger, and to date the number of objections is dramatically lower. However, an objection by any Class Member deserves careful consideration. Accordingly, Class Counsel address will address each objection filed or served to date.

Gary N. Fox (ECF No. 86): Mr. Fox objected that the nine-year guarantee should, instead, be a 19-year guarantee starting at age 65 for each Plan Participant, based on the U.S. government’s current statistical table for life expectancies.

Had Plaintiffs prevailed on the merits, the guarantee would not have had a temporal limitation at all. And, while Mr. Fox’s proposal would have provided a longer amount of protection for Class Members, Class Counsel argued forcefully for a longer period than nine years during settlement negotiations. The nine-year period in the Settlement was part of the mediator's proposal; a necessary compromise that represents significant value for the Class.

¹³ Thirteen of the fourteen unfiled objection forms either left the “objection” portion of the form blank or filled it with an “x” or an “n/a” Kindall Decl., ¶¶ 36-38; Kindall Decl. Exh. E. Counsel have confirmed that eight of these “blank” forms were submitted in error and the Class Members did not intend to object. Counsel have been unable to reach the remaining five Class Members who filed blank forms to confirm their intent, but it appears likely that their forms were likewise sent in error. Kindall Decl., ¶¶ 36-38. The final unfiled objection form was received from Class Member Gary Stucke; the stated objection is “Lost of 401k from 2001-2003.” Kindall Decl. Exh. E. Counsel have been unable to reach Mr. Stucke to date to better understand his objection. Since the litigation does not involve a 401(k) -type Plan at all, it is not clear whether Mr. Stucke’s complaint is related to the case or the settlement.

Class Counsel spoke with Mr. Fox by telephone on September 21, 2018. After discussing the case and the settlement, Mr. Fox was satisfied with the settlement. He authorized Class Counsel to represent to the Court that he was withdrawing his objection.

Patricia S. Hackett (ECF No. 87): In her objection, Mrs. Hackett expressed concern that the pension plan trust fund was underfunded by $209 million in 2014, and believed that this loss of investment funds needed to be addressed. Mrs. Hackett further stated that "Committee defendants and administrators of the pension plan have violated their fiduciary duty obligation to plan participants by the continuance to retain Fidelity, State Street, and Wells Fargo as investment custodians and advisors" based on investigations of these entities by the SEC and Department of Justice since 2000. Mrs. Hackett attached copies of documents concerning these investigations.

Plaintiffs' allegation that the trust fund had a shortfall of $209 million in 2014 was, as noted in the Complaint, based on Mercy Health's Consolidated Financial Statements for 2013 and 2014, which are publicly available and thus formed a part of Class Counsel's pre-filing investigation. For purposes of the present motion, however, two things are important to note. First, in alleging underfunding of the Plans in their Complaint, Plaintiffs necessarily relied on the shortfall shown in Defendants' then-publicly-available financial statements. Since Mercy Health was claiming exemption from ERISA, it was not filing the forms that ERISA plans must file annually concerning the funding levels of the Plans. However, because the accounting rules that apply to financial statements are not the same as the funding standards that are applied under ERISA, it is possible for a financial statement to show underfunding when a plan is adequately funded for purposes of ERISA compliance. Second, the most recent reports available at the time the Complaint was filed were from December of 2014. Counsel has been able to review current reports, and Plaintiffs' expert has advised them that the trust fund currently meets ERISA's funding requirements for this year. If, rather than mediating early this year, Plaintiffs had obtained a favorable judgment and the Court had determined that the Plan had to be brought into compliance with ERISA, doing so would not have required Mercy Health to provide additional money for the trust fund today.

Randall Hodak (ECF No. 89): Mr. Hodak objects that the class would be giving up their rights to sue in exchange for a guarantee that only lasts nine years, after which the Plan could be terminated or could pay less. He concludes that it "[s]eems like the only ones benefiting are the Defendants and the Plaintiff lawyers."

As noted above with respect to Mr. Fox's objection, the nine-year limit on the guarantee was a compromise, and one that was necessary to obtain the settlement. Class Counsel agree that a longer guarantee would be better – or better still, a guarantee that contained no limit at all. But Class Counsel believed, and continue to believe, that the mediator's proposal was in the best interests of the Class when the potential benefit was weighed together with the real risk that Plaintiffs would not prevail in the litigation. The guarantee has substantial value, even though it is limited in duration. Thus, Class Counsel strongly disagree that the Settlement only benefits Defendant and Plaintiffs' lawyers."

Melanie Sue Gillespie (ECF No. 92): Ms. Gillespie argues that the 9-year guarantee is not long enough, and points out that she is only 48 at present and will not reach retirement age before the guarantee expires. Class Counsel acknowledge that the benefits provided by the Settlement will not be as helpful to Class Members who, like Ms. Gillespie, are still many years from retirement age. However, the existence of the legally-enforceable nine-year guarantee may provide additional incentive for Mercy Health to ensure that the Plans' trust funds remain robust.

Moreover, all Class Members will benefit from the additional Plan- and benefit-related information Mercy Health is required to provide during the nine-year period.

Dianne Marie Krajewski (ECF No. 94): Ms. Krajewski wrote that she had taken a lump-sum distribution on December 31, 2012 after 38 years' service, and objected to the "fairness of changes and loss of income that was supposed to be mine when pension plans were changed." Ms. Krajewski subsequently confirmed that her objection involved a decrease in accrued pension savings that occurred prior to the Class Period, when Mercy Health acquired the hospital system where she had been employed. Kindall Decl., ¶ 33. Ms. Krajewski's complaint, therefore, is not related to either this litigation or the settlement.

Bruce A. Wright (ECF No. 88), Nancy Norman (ECF No. 96), and Vonell Sadler (ECF No. 93): Both Mr. Wright and Ms. Sadler's objection form left an "x" in the area designated for a description of the nature of the objection, while Ms. Norman's form left the objection blank. The objections appear to have been filed in error, although counsel have not been able to confirm that. Kindall Decl. ¶ 35.

Beatrice Etzel (ECF No. 97): Ms. Etzel claims that Mercy Health has not used her correct hire date to calculate her pension. While this is a potentially serious matter, it is not related to the litigation or the settlement, and the release does not apply to individual claims for benefits under state contract or trust law. Settlement Agreement, ¶ 4.1.2.

Given that the Class numbers over 40,000 people, very few objections have been received, and numerous conversations with Class Members have been positive, Class Counsel believes that the reaction of absent class members to date supports approval of the Settlement. Class Counsel will address any objections filed subsequent to this memorandum prior to the hearing.

7. The Settlement is Consistent With Public Interest

“The law favors the settlement of class action litigation.” Johnson, 2015 WL 12001269, at *12. “Further, approval of a settlement that provides substantial benefits to a class serves the public interest by eliminating substantial burdens on the court system that would result from continued litigation.” Gokare, 2013 WL 12094870, at *13. This is particularly true in the class action context. See id. (“[T]here is a strong public interest in encouraging settlement of complex litigation and class action suits because they are notoriously difficult and unpredictable and settlement conserves judicial resources”); accord, City of Plantation Police Officers' Employees' Ret. Sys. v. Jeffries, No. 2:14-CV-1380, 2014 WL 7404000, at *11 (S.D. Ohio Dec. 30, 2014); In re Nationwide Fin. Servs. Litig., No. 2:08-cv-00249, 2009 WL 8747486, at *8 (S.D. Ohio Aug. 19, 2009). Given that the Settlement will provide meaningful benefits to the Settlement Class and fully resolve the Action without further burdening the Court, the Settlement is in the public interest, satisfying this factor.

8. Additional Considerations

In last year’s Roland decision, this Court considered two additional factors in assessing the merits of a class action settlement: attorneys’ fees and an incentive payment to the named plaintiff. While the proposed Settlement contains provisions that address both attorneys’ fees and Case Contribution Awards for Named Plaintiffs, neither present any basis to withhold preliminary approval. First, and most importantly, the Settlement Agreement clearly provides that the Court will decide whether to award any amounts for payment of plaintiffs’ attorneys’ fees and expenses or Case Contribution Awards, and the proposed Settlement is in no way conditioned on any such awards being made. Settlement Agreement, at ¶¶ 8.3 & 11.4. All that the Settlement provides is that Defendants will not oppose a request for attorneys’ fees, expenses and Named Plaintiffs Case Contribution Awards that does not require them to pay more than $850,000 in the aggregate. Id., ¶ 8.3.

Courts have recognized that a defendant's agreement not to object to fees below a certain threshold, sometimes called a "clear sailing" provision, requires scrutiny, since the possibility exists that class counsel might bargain away something of value in exchange for such a provision. See, e.g., In re: Whirlpool Corp. Front-loading Washer Prod. Liab. Litig., No. 08-WP-65000, 2016 WL 5338012, at *19 (N.D. Ohio Sept. 23, 2016) (discussing Judge Newman's dissenting opinion in Malchman v. Davis, 761 F.2d 893, 908 (2nd Cir. 1985)). At the same time, however, courts have also recognized that defendants have a legitimate interest in quantifying the maximum cost associated with a settlement before agreeing to it:

[C]lear-sailing clauses can serve perfectly legitimate purposes: a defendant wants to know its exposure in the context of attorney fees, and a clear-sailing provision accomplishes just that. See Gooch v. Life Investors Ins. Co. of Am., 672 F.3d 402, 425 (6th Cir. 2012) ("where . . . the amount of the fees is important to the party paying them, as well as to the attorney recipient, it seems . . . that an agreement 'not to oppose' an application for fees up to a point is essential to the completion of the settlement, because the defendants want to know their total maximum exposure and the plaintiffs do not want to be sandbagged") (quoting Malchman, 761 F.2d at 905 n.5)

Whirlpool, 2016 WL 5338012, at *20. Here, as discussed in Whirlpool, Defendants sought, at the conclusion of the mediation, to quantify their potential attorneys' fee exposure under the proposed settlement. As noted above, the key terms of the Settlement Agreement were the result of a mediator's proposal. Moreover, as in Whirlpool, this is not a case where the fee cap discussed in the Settlement Agreement is disproportionate to the value of the settlement, or would result in a windfall to plaintiffs' counsel. Id. As discussed above, the market value of the 9-year guarantee alone is over $63 million; thus, "the Settlement Agreement wins the class substantial benefits." Id. Furthermore, Plaintiffs' Counsel in this action have devoted over 2,600 hours to this litigation over the course of two years. See Kindall Decl., ¶¶ 45 & 54; Gyandoh Decl., ¶ 10; Parry Decl.

Exh. 2; Whaley Pl. Decl. Exhs. C, D & E; McKenna Decl. Exh. 2. If the Court grants the full amount of Class Counsels' $779,531.20 request, the resulting fee would equate to a blended hourly rate of $290. Kindall Decl., ¶ 56.¹⁴

Class Counsel have also requested Case Contribution Awards of $2,000 for each of the Named Plaintiffs for their efforts on behalf of the Settlement Class. As discussed more fully in the declarations of Plaintiffs' Counsel, the individual Plaintiffs have been critical to this litigation from the start. They provided valuable information about the numerous Plans at issue in the case, permitting counsel to draft individual complaints – and, ultimately, the MCC – that contained detailed allegations. Plaintiffs met with counsel in person and had numerous telephone calls, provided documents, reviewed filings, and discussed the terms of the proposed settlement with counsel. Gyandoh Decl., ¶¶ 4, 6, 8, and 18; Whaley Pl. Decl., ¶¶ 6, 8, 11, 13, and 14; McKenna Decl., ¶¶ 2, 4, 5, 6 and 8. Moreover, the amounts requested are at or below awards made by this court in similar cases. See, e.g., Michel, at *12 (noting “[t]here is precedent for incentive awards in the neighborhood of $1,000 to $5,000 in consumer protection class actions” and awarding each class representative $3,000). In light of the modest amounts at issue, the substantial benefits provided by the Settlement, and the fact that the Settlement is not contingent upon the Court granting any such payments at all, the Settlement Agreement's provisions concerning Named Plaintiff Case Contribution Awards should not be an impediment to preliminary approval.

¹⁴ Plaintiffs' request for an award of attorneys' fees and expenses and case contribution awards for lead plaintiffs are addressed more comprehensively in a separate motion on memorandum of law. Plaintiffs present this summary analysis here to demonstrate that there is nothing in the Settlement Agreement's provisions relating to attorneys' fees that should give the Court pause with respect to approving the Settlement itself.

IV. CERTIFICATION OF THE SETTLEMENT CLASS IS APPROPRIATE

For settlement purposes only, Plaintiffs seek certification of a Settlement Class comprised of all present or past participants (vested or non-vested) or beneficiaries of the Plans as of the Effective Date of the Settlement.¹⁵ Certification of the Settlement Class in this Action is warranted for numerous reasons. As an initial matter, before entering the Preliminary Approval Order, this Court examined the record and preliminarily certified the Settlement Class pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 23(b)(1) and (b)(2). See Dkt. No. 85 at ¶¶ 1-2. Nothing has changed to compel the Court to now reach a different conclusion at the final approval stage. Indeed, Plaintiffs' claims for breach of fiduciary duty under ERISA are well-suited for certification.

Class certification for settlement purposes under Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure entails a two-step analysis. First, the Court must determine whether Rule 23(a)'s prerequisites are met, which are: (1) numerosity, (2) commonality, (3) typicality, and (4) adequacy of representation. Next, the court must determine whether Plaintiffs have met the requirements of Rule 23(b). See In re Cardizem CD Antitrust Litig., 218 F.R.D. 508, 517 (E.D. Mich. 2003). Here, Plaintiffs satisfy the prerequisites of Rule 23(a) as well as the requirements of Rule 23(b)(1).

A. The Proposed Class Meets the Prerequisites for Class Certification Under Rule 23(a)

1. Numerosity

To warrant certification under Rule 23(a)(1), a proposed class must be “so numerous that joinder of all class members is impracticable.” Meyers v. Dtna Trucks North America, LLC, No. 14-2361, 2014 WL 12531121, *5 (W.D. Tenn. Oct. 8, 2014) (quoting FED. R. CIV. P. 23(a)(1)).

¹⁵ The Supreme Court has acknowledged the propriety of certifying a class solely for settlement purposes. Amchem Products, Inc. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 618 (1997). In conducting this task, the court's “dominant concern” is “whether a proposed class has sufficient unity so that absent members can fairly be bound by the decisions of class representatives.” Id. at 621.

“While the Sixth Circuit has not established a strict numerical test for the satisfaction of the numerosity requirement, it has held that “substantial” numbers usually satisfy the requirement. Michel, 2014 WL 497031, at *6 (quoting Daffin v. Ford Motor Co., 458 F.3d 549, 553 (6th Cir. 2006)). As the Michel Court further reasoned, “[a] proposed class of thousands of individuals is ‘substantial.’” Michel, 2014 WL 497031, at *6. The Settlement Class consists of over 40,000 persons. Serota Decl., ¶ 19. Thus the Settlement Class is sufficiently numerous for joinder to be impracticable, satisfying Rule 23(a)(1).

2. Commonality

The threshold for commonality under Rule 23(a)(2) is not high. As the Supreme Court explained in Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Dukes, 131 S. Ct. 2541, 2551 (2011), that “[c]ommonality requires the plaintiff to demonstrate that the class members have suffered the same injury.” Id. However, “[f]or purposes of Rule 23(a)(2), even a single [common] question will do.” Id. at 2556; see also Ledford ex rel. Epperson v. Colbert, No. 10-cv-706, 2012 WL 1207211, at *4 (S.D. Ohio Apr. 11, 2012) (“Rule 23(a)(2)’s commonality requirement is satisfied if the resolution of at least one common issue will affect the class as a whole.”) (citing Fallick v. Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co., 162 F.3d 410, 424 (6th Cir. 1998)). “A ‘perfect fit’ of all issues is not required,” “[r]ather, the commonality required by Rule 23(a)(2) is ‘qualitative rather than quantitative, that is, there need be only a single issue common to all members of the class.’” Ledford, 2012 WL 1207211, at *4 (quoting In re Am. Med. Sys. Inc., 75 F.3d 1069, 1080 (6th Cir. 1996)). “The resolution of the common issue should advance the litigation.” Ledford, 2012 WL 1207211, at *4 (citing Sprague v. General Motors Corp., 133 F.3d 388, 397 (6th Cir. 1998)).

Common questions abound in ERISA breach of fiduciary duty cases because plaintiffs and class members are similarly affected by defendants’ plan-wide conduct. In ERISA cases, courts routinely find that Rule 23(a)’s commonality requirement is satisfied. See, e.g., Yost v. First Horizon Nat. Corp., No. 08-cv-2293, 2011 WL 2182262, at *7 (W.D. Tenn. June 3, 2011) (commonality satisfied where plaintiffs identified numerous legal issues which affected the class in common way). Here, there are common questions concerning whether the Plan qualifies as a “church plan” which would make it exempt from ERISA, and whether the Defendants have breached their duties under ERISA by improperly funding and administering the Plan. See, e.g., MCC ¶¶ 1-7. These issues are common to the Settlement Class satisfying Rule 23(a)(2). Although the members of the Settlement Class are not all participants or beneficiaries of the same plan, there are no differences between the Plans that are material to Plaintiffs’ claims. Each of the Plans is funded by Mercy Health. Each is “administered” by an internal committee. Each specifically provides that the plan is a “church plan,” and that plan participants have no recourse pursuant to ERISA for benefits against any person or entity other than the plans themselves. Kindall Decl., ¶ 7. Thus, Defendants’ policy and practice of treating the Plans as being exempt from ERISA under the “church plan” exemption, and the legal claims that flow from that treatment, are common to the Settlement Class.

3. Typicality

In Amos, the court noted that:

Typicality determines whether a sufficient relationship exists between the injury to the named plaintiff and the conduct affecting the class, so that the court may properly attribute a collective nature to the challenged conduct. In other words, when such a relationship is shown, a plaintiff’s injury arises from or is directly related to a wrong to the class, and that wrong includes the wrong to the plaintiff. Thus, a plaintiff’s claim is typical if it arises from the same event or practice or course of conduct that gives rise to the claims of other class members, and if his or her claims are based on the same legal theory.

Amos, 2015 WL 4881459, at *6-*7 (citing In re Am. Med. Sys. Inc., 75 F.3d at 1082) (quoting Newberg on Class Actions, § 3-13 at 3-76 (footnote omitted)). “If there is a strong similarity of legal theories, the requirement [of typicality] is met, even if there are factual distinctions among named and absent class members.” Griffin v. Flagstar Bancorp, Inc., No. 10-cv-10610, 2013 WL 6511860, at *6 (E.D. Mich. Dec. 12, 2013).

Typicality is often met in putative class actions brought on behalf of a plan under ERISA. See, e.g., Griffin, 2013 WL 6511860, at *6 (“Plaintiffs allege that all Class Members suffered the same type of injury from the Defendants’ breaches of their fiduciary duties. The typicality requirement is met.”); In re Broadwing, Inc. ERISA Litig., 252 F.R.D. at 378 (ERISA plaintiff’s claims concerning the retirement account were based on the same legal theories, and “the same events, practices and course of conduct” as the claims of the other class members); In re CMS Energy ERISA Litig., 225 F.R.D. 539, 543-44 (E.D. Mich. 2004) (typicality exists where plaintiffs’ and the putative class claims stem from the same alleged facts and circumstances).

Plaintiffs are all participants in one or more of the Plans.¹⁶ As noted above, the provisions of the Plans that are relevant to this litigation are the same: each is funded by Mercy Health and “administered” by an internal committee; each specifically provides that the plan is a “church plan,” and that plan participants have no recourse for benefits against any person or entity other than the plans themselves. Thus, Plaintiffs’ claims are typical of the claims of all participants in the Plans because they arise from the Defendants’ policy and practice of refusing to operating the Plans in accordance with the requirements of ERISA, based on the common assertion that the Plans qualify for the church plan exemption. Based on these facts and allegations, Plaintiffs satisfy the typicality requirement of Rule 23(a)(3). See, e.g., Meyers, 2014 WL 12531121, at *6 (finding typicality satisfied, noting “[t]he Class Representatives’ claims arise from the same course of conduct that gives rise to the other Proposed Class members’ claims and are based on the same legal theory.”).

¹⁶ Plaintiffs Lupp, Alban and Derrick are participants in the Mercy Health Partners of Greater Cincinnati Retirement Plan, Plaintiffs Whaley, Beidleman, Bork, Gagne and Zink are participants in the Mercy Health Partners – Northern Region Retirement Plan and/or the merged St. Vincent Retirement Plan, Plaintiffs Karl and Patricia Mauger are participants in the Mercy Health Partners Pension Plan/Mercy Health Partners (NEPA) Plan, Plaintiff Blockus is a participant in the Mercy Health Partners Wilkes-Barre Employees’ Pension Plan, and Plaintiff Zaworski is a participant in the Community Health Partners Regional Medical Center Employees’ Defined Benefit Pension Plan (Lorain). MCC, ¶¶ 17-28.

4. Adequacy

Rule 23(a)(4) requires that “the representative parties¹⁷ will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class.” “The Sixth Circuit uses a two-prong test to determine whether a class representative satisfies the adequacy of representation factor under Rule 23(a)(4): ‘1) [T]he representative must have common interests with unnamed members of the class, and 2) it must appear that the representatives will vigorously prosecute the interests of the class through qualified counsel.’” Michel, 2014 WL 497031, at *7 (citing Vassalle v. Midland Funding LLC, 708 F.3d 747, 757 (6th Cir. 2013)).

Plaintiffs here meet both criteria. The first prong of the “adequacy” requirement largely overlaps with the commonality and typicality requirements of Rule 23(a)(2)-(3) and, as discussed above, Plaintiffs’ interests are squarely in line with those of the proposed Settlement Class. Moreover, Plaintiffs have contributed to the efficient prosecution of this litigation evidenced by providing documents and information to Plaintiffs’ counsel for preparation of the complaints, their regular communications with counsel and their participation in the settlement process. Plaintiffs were prepared to make themselves available for a deposition by Defendants if the case proceeded into discovery and to appear at trial. Plaintiffs thus satisfy Rule 23(a)(4).

¹⁷ While the adequacy of the named plaintiffs is governed by Rule 23(a)(4), the adequacy of counsel is governed by Rule 23(g). See FED. R. CIV. P. 23 Advisory Committee Notes. Accordingly, Class Counsel’s adequacy is discussed infra in Section IV.C.

5. Implicit Requirements

As the Meyers court noted, there are two additional “implicit requirements” – the Proposed Class must be definite and the Class Representatives must be members of the Proposed Class. Meyers, 2014 WL 12531121, at *5. With respect to the first prong, the “class definition must be sufficiently definite so that it is administratively feasible for the court to determine whether a particular individual is a member of the proposed class.” Id.

These requirements are amply met here because the proposed Settlement Class is all participants (vested or non-vested) or beneficiaries of the Plan as of the Effective Date of the Settlement, which is easily determinable from the records of Defendants. Defendants’ records will readily determine Plan participation and thus membership in the Settlement Class. Moreover, there is no dispute that each of the Plaintiffs is a member of the Settlement Class. See supra n.15.

B. The Proposed Class Meets the Prerequisites for Class Certification Under Rule 23(b)(1) and/or (b)(2)

A class may be certified pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(b)(1) if the prosecution of separate actions by individual class members would create the risk of inconsistent adjudications, which would create incompatible standards of conduct for the defendant, or would as a practical matter be dispositive of the interests of absent members. FED. R. CIV. P. 23(b)(1)(A) and (B). As the Meyers court explained, “[t]he purpose of this rule is primarily to prevent a defendant from being caught in a classic ‘Catch 22’ situation where one court orders a defendant to take certain action which another court orders the same defendant not to take.” Meyers, 2014 WL 12531121, at *7.

Many decisions recognize that “in light of the derivative nature of ERISA § 502(a)(2) claims, breach of fiduciary duty claims brought under § 502(a)(2) are paradigmatic examples of claims appropriate for certification as a Rule 23(b)(1) class, as numerous courts have held.” Griffin, 2013

WL 6511860, at *6 (citing In re Schering Plough Corp. ERISA Litig., 589 F.3d 585, 604 (3d Cir. 2009) (collecting cases)); Yost, 2011 WL 2182262, at *13 (same); Shanehchian v. Macy's Inc., No. 07-cv-828, 2011 WL 883659, at *10 (S.D. Ohio Mar. 10, 2011) (same). Because Plaintiffs pursue claims in a representative capacity in accordance with ERISA's remedial provisions, this case is particularly appropriate for class action treatment under Rule 23(b)(1). Smith v. Aon, 238 F.R.D. 609, 617 (N.D. Ill. 2006). Indeed, the Advisory Committee Notes to Rule 23 instruct that certification under Rule 23(b)(1)(B) is appropriate in "an action which charges a breach of trust by an indenture trustee or other fiduciary similarly affecting the members of a large class of security holders or other beneficiaries, and which requires an accounting or like measures to restore the subject of the trust." FED. R. CIV. P. 23(b)(1)(B) Advisory Committee's Note (1966 Amendment) (emphasis added).

The Settlement Class may also be certified pursuant to Rule 23(b)(2). "Rule 23(b)(2) authorizes a class action if 'the party opposing the class has acted or refused to act on grounds that apply generally to the class, so that final injunctive relief or corresponding declaratory relief is appropriate respecting the class as a whole.'" Meyers, 2014 WL 12531121, at *7 (citing FED. R. CIV. P. 23(b)(2)). As the Supreme Court explained in Wal-Mart Stores, Inc.:

The key to the (b)(2) class is "the indivisible nature of the injunctive or declaratory remedy warranted—the notion that the conduct is such that it can be enjoined or declared unlawful only as to all of the class members or as to none of them." In other words, Rule 23(b)(2) applies only when a single injunction or declaratory judgment would provide relief to each member of the class.

Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., 131 S. Ct. at 2557. Here, Plaintiffs allege that Defendants breached their fiduciary duties to the Plans and their participants by improperly relying on the "church plan" exemption rather than complying with ERISA and seek equitable relief on behalf of the Plan as a whole. Such equitable remedies are specifically authorized by ERISA. See ERISA §§ 502(a)(2) and (3), 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(2) and (3).

Accordingly, Plaintiffs' claims are properly certified under either subsection of Rule 23(b)(1), under Rule 23(b)(2), or under both.¹⁸

C. The Court Should Appoint IKR and KTMC as Class Counsel and Plaintiffs as Class Representative for the Settlement Class

Rule 23(g) governs the appointment of class counsel. The rule identifies four specific factors that should be considered, together with any other matter pertinent to counsel's ability to fairly and adequately represent the interests of the class. FED. R. CIV. P. 23(g)(1). The four specific factors are: (i) the work counsel did in identifying or investigating potential claims in the action; (ii) counsel's experience in handling class actions, other complex litigation, and claims of the type asserted in the action; (iii) counsel's knowledge of the applicable law; and (iv) the resources that counsel will commit to representing the class. FED. R. CIV. P. 23(g)(1)(A)(i)-(iv).

In this case, the Court appointed interim class counsel after extensive briefing on March 21, 2017. ECF No. 58; see also ECF No. 42 (Report and Recommendation of Magistrate Judge Bowman). Taking into account all of the 23(g)(1) factors, the Court appointed IKR and KTMC as Interim Co-Lead Class Counsel, and Strauss Troy Company, LPA as Interim Liaison Class Counsel. In the interests of brevity, Plaintiffs rely on the prior findings of the Court as well as their prior briefing on the Rule 23(g)(1) factors, ECF Nos. 25, 40 and 49, since the standards for appointment of interim class counsel and the standards for appointment of class counsel at the time of certification are the same. It is worth noting, however, that since their appointment, Interim Class Counsel have, as promised, committed significant resources to the litigation of the case, filed an MCC based on further investigation of potential claims, briefed the adequacy of the allegations of the Complaint, participated in a successful mediation, negotiated the terms of a proposed settlement for consideration by the Court and the Settlement Class, and successfully briefed a motion for preliminary approval. Accordingly, the Court should confirm its prior appointment of IKR and KTMC as Co-Lead counsel for the Settlement Class, and Strauss Troy Company, LPA as Interim Liaison Class Counsel.

¹⁸ It is not uncommon for courts to certify ERISA class actions under both subsections of Rule 23(b)(1). See, e.g., Broadwing, 252 F.R.D. at 379 ("Here, Plaintiffs' ERISA claims will, as a practical matter, adjudicate the interests of all plan participants. If this case was adjudicated individually and relief was granted in some actions but denied in others, the conflicting declaratory and injunctive relief could make compliance impossible for Defendants. Thus, certification under Rules 23(b)(1)(A) and (B) is appropriate."); Yost, 2011 WL 2182262, at *13-14 (certifying class under Rule 23(b)(1)(A) and 23(b)(1)(B)); Smith, 238 F.R.D. at 617; Rankin v. Rots, 220 F.R.D. 511, 522 (E.D. Mich. Apr. 16, 2004); Stanford v. Foamex L.P., 263 F.R.D. 156, 173-74 (E.D. Pa. 2009); Nortel Networks Corp. ERISA Litig., 2009 WL 3294827, at *16 (M.D. Tenn. Sept. 2, 2009); Jones v. Novastar Fin., Inc., 257 F.R.D. 181, 193-94 (W.D. Mo. 2009).

V. THE COURT SHOULD FIND THAT THE CLASS RECEIVED ADEQUATE NOTICE

The Settlement Class must receive due and adequate notice of a settlement and an opportunity to be heard. Kinder v. Meredith Corp., No. 14-cr-11284, 2016 WL 454441, at *3 (E.D. Mich. Feb. 5, 2016) (“Following preliminary approval, putative class members must be notified of the settlement.”) (citing FED. R. CIV. P. 23(e)(1)). “The court must direct notice in a reasonable manner to all class members who would be bound by the proposal.” Id. “Notice must . . . fairly apprise . . . prospective members of the class of the terms of the proposed settlement so that class members may come to their own conclusion about whether the settlement serves their interests.” Id. (citing Gooch v. Life Investors Ins. Co. of Am., 672 F.3d 402, 423 (6th Cir. 2012)). “To meet this standard, a class notice should ‘inform the class members of the nature of the pending action, the general terms of the settlement, that complete and detailed information is available from the court files, and that any class member may appear and be heard at the hearing.’” Kinder, 2016 WL 454441, at *3 (quoting Newberg on Class Actions § 8:17 (5th ed.)).

Here, the Notice agreed to by the Parties and approved in the Preliminary Approval Order describes in plain English: (i) the terms and operations of the Settlement; (ii) the nature and extent of the release of claims; (iii) the maximum attorneys' fees, expenses and Named Plaintiff Case Contribution Awards that may be sought; (iv) the procedure and timing for objecting to the Settlement; and (v) the date and place for the Fairness Hearing. See Settlement Agreement, Exh. 2.

In addition, dissemination of the Class Notice met the requirements of Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e). On the dates and in the manners set by the Court in its Preliminary Approval Order and in its Order of September 27, 2018, Defendants caused the Class Notice notice of the Preliminary Approval Order to be sent by first class mail to the last known addresses for members of the Settlement Class in the possession of the Plans' current record-keeper. Ness Decl., ¶ 8. In addition, Class Counsel published the Settlement Agreement and Class Notice on IKR's website. Kindall Decl., ¶ 18. These forms of Notice fairly apprised members of the Class of the Settlement Agreement and their rights as members of the Settlement Class. Thus, the form of notice and procedures for notice meet the requirements of Rule 23(e), satisfy all due process considerations, and should be approved. See, e.g., Johnson, 2015 WL 12001268, at *9-10 (finding notice that provided "(i) the nature of the action; (ii) the definition of the class certified; (iii) the class claims, issues, or defenses; (iv) that a class member may enter an appearance through an attorney if the member so desires; (v) that the court will exclude from the class any member who requests exclusion; (vi) the time and manner for requesting exclusion; and (vii) the binding effect of a class judgment on members under Rule 23(c)(3)" was both "substantively adequate" and "formally adequate").

VI. CONCLUSION

Based on the foregoing, Plaintiffs respectfully move this Court to grant their Motion for Final Approval of Settlement, Certification of the Settlement Class and Approval of Class Notice.

Dated: October 29, 2018

Respectfully submitted,

By: /s/ Mark P. Kindall
IZARD KINDALL & RAABE LLP
Robert A. IZard (admitted pro hac vice) Mark P. Kindall (admitted pro hac vice) Douglas P. Needham (admitted pro hac vice)
29 South Main Street, Suite 305
West Hartford, CT 06107
Tel: (860) 493-6292
Fax: (860) 493-6290
Email: rizard@ikrlaw.com
Email: mkindall@ikrlaw.com
Email: dneedham@ikrlaw.com

/s/ Mark K. Gyandoh
KESSLER TOPAZ MELTZER &
CHECK, LLP
Mark K. Gyandoh (admitted pro hac vice)
280 King of Prussia Road
Radnor, PA 19087
Tel: (610) 667-7706
Fax: (610) 667-7056
Email: mgyandoh@ktmc.com

Interim Co-Lead Class Counsel

Ronald R. Parry
STRAUSS TROY
The Federal Reserve Building
150 East Fourth Street
Cincinnati, OH 45202-4018
Tel: (513) 621-2120
Fax: (513) 241-8259
Email: rrperry@strausstroy.com

Interim Class Liaison Counsel

KELLER ROHRBACK L.L.P.
Laura R. Gerber (admitted pro hac vice)
Lynn Lincoln Sarko (admitted pro hac vice) Havila Unrein (admitted pro hac vice)

1201 Third Avenue, Suite 3200
Seattle, WA 98101-3052
Tel.: (206) 623-1900
Fax: (206) 623-3384
Email: lgerber@kellerrohrback.com
Email: lsarko@kellerrohrback.com
Email: hunrein@kellerrohrback.com

KELLER ROHRBACK L.L.P.

Ron Kilgard (admitted pro hac vice)
3101 North Central Avenue, Suite 1400
Phoenix, AZ 85012
Tel.: (602) 248-0088
Fax: (602) 248-2822
Email: rkilgard@kellerrohrback.com

COHEN MILSTEIN SELLERS & TOLL, PLLC

Karen L. Handorf (admitted pro hac vice) Michelle Yau (admitted pro hac vice)
Scott Lempert (admitted pro hac vice)
1100 New York Avenue, N.W.
Suite 500, West Tower
Washington, DC 20005
Tel: (202) 408-4600
Fax: (202) 408-4699
Email: khandorf@cohenmilstein.com
Email: myau@cohenmilstein.com
Email: slempert@cohenmilstein.com

GARY, NAEGELE & THEADO, LLC

Thomas R. Theado, Esq.
401 Broadway Avenue, Unit 104
Lorain, Ohio 44052-1745
Tel.: (440) 320-8652
Fax: (440) 244-3462
Email: ttheado@GNTLaw.com

*Attorneys for Plaintiffs Janet Whaley,
Leslie Beidleman, Patricia K. Blockus,
Charles Bork, Marilyn Gagne, Karl
Mauger, Patricia Mauger, Beth Zaworski,
Nancy Zink, Mary Alban, and Linda Derrick*

GAINY MCKENNA & EGGLESTON

Thomas J. McKenna, Esq.
440 Park Ave. South, 5th Floor
New York, NY 10016
Tel: (212) 983-1300
Fax: (212) 983-0383

Attorneys for Plaintiffs Mary Alban and Linda Derrick

CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE

I HEREBY CERTIFY that on October 29, 2018, a copy of the foregoing document was filed electronically. Notice of this filing will be sent to counsel of record by operation of the Court's electronic filing system.

/s/ Mark P. Kindall

Mark P. Kindall